

MAHARAJA RANJIT SINGH PUNJAB TECHNICAL UNIVERSITY

ARCHITECTURAL MUSEUM:

The architectural museum was established around 1996 in the department of architecture, which later became part of MRSPTU under GZS School of Architecture & Planning. The purpose of the museum is to exhibit material which can add to the knowledge of the students. Such material includes- building materials, fittings and fixtures, physical models of structures and selected works of students. Experts from allied files are invited from time to time to display their products and share their views with the faculty and students. Some of the displayed material is being replaced regularly with the new submissions of the students and with the material received from the industry.

The museum has been very helpful in the academic development of the students since it enables physical exposure to academic materials in the form of drawing sheets, miniature models, building materials and interior fittings. The display of kitchen and toilet fittings is being done on full scale with anthropometric markings for better learning of the students. Part of the museum holds a construction yard where students do hands-on activities, related to their academic activities. Over the period many dignitaries have visited the museum and have appreciated the displayed work of students and the mode of preserving and sharing knowledge.
