

As a proud student of this college, I present to you some educational channels which you can refer to while preparing for interviews or I should say even semester exams. Sadly, This is certified as illegal even though modern edtech companies and these bhaiya didis are launching courses with hefty price tags with no one to regulate them. It's sad to see what India has become where nowadays money=education but guys Pirates are here to do their jobs.

These are some of the collection which you can refer to:
